Why Work at a Newton Parks & Recreation Summer Day Camp?

Regardless of your age, camp jobs offer invaluable experiences that allow you to learn and develop skills that will enhance your job marketability.

Look at all of the skills you can develop while working at a summer camp:

Creative Thinking – you will develop innovative and fun ways to engage your campers.

Communication – you will be required to communicate effectively with people at every level, from campers, to co-workers, to directors to parents.

Problem Solving – you will be challenged to think on your feet to resolve a variety of issues.

Collaboration – you will use practical, real life training in how to work with a team and help build the culture of your camp group.

Leadership – you will model professionalism and compassion by managing a group of campers, while contributing to the growth and development of each individual participant.

Time Management – you will follow schedules and learn what it takes to get yourself and a group of people to places on time.

Flexibility - you will learn how to react and what to do when things change unexpectedly.

Sportsmanship – you will learn how to show support and celebrate the successes of yourself and others in a variety of activities.

Initiative – you will be given the opportunity to act and think on your own, volunteer your time or experience to help others, and take on roles that are important to you.

Activity/Program Planning - you will have opportunities to share your interest and experience while planning activities to help make camp fun.

Organization – you will learn how to manage your group systematically by keeping records, schedules and camper information in order.

Plus you get paid for having fun and have your nights and weekends free!

In return, camps benefit from your energy, enthusiasm, love of being with children, creativity, being a good role model, your experience in specific activity areas such as sports, arts and crafts, STEM, etc., and so much more.
